Waveland talks 'FY20 budget; sets hearing

The Waveland Board of Mayor and Aldermen on Tuesday hosted an FY '20 budget workshop.

The proposed budget for the general fund is about $5.9 million and about $3 million for the utility fund, Waveland City Clerk Mickey Lagasse said. The value of a mill is $67,000, he added.

There is no proposed tax increase, Lagasse said.

The budget includes a three percent raise for all employees except for employees in street and utilities, who will receive a $1 per hour raise, Lagasse said.

The proposed budget also includes a $3,000 annual raise for the aldermen and a $5,000 annual raise for the mayor.

The current annual salaries for the aldermen and mayor are: Mayor Pro Temp is $18,000, $15,600 for the remaining three aldermen, and $72,000 for the mayor. None of the aldermen have health insurance through the city.

The board members discussed their raises during Tuesday's meeting.

Waveland Mayor Mike Smith said that the administrative team based the proposed salaries on those across the Coast.

Alderman Jeremy Burke said that he ran for office for "public service, not for money."

"It's more of a labor of love than money," he said. "The reason we're doing so well is not because of me, it's because of our employees. I want to be able to put back everything to them."

Burke said that he didn't feel that this next year would bring any more responsibility or work.

"I don't feel right accepting a $3,000 raise," he said.

Alderman Bobby Richardson said he sees the situation differently.

"I feel like we're really frugal with the city's money and we've given raises to all our employees three out of four years, which we are trying to take care of our employees," Richardson said. "We do do a lot. I'm on the phone constantly, I'm meeting with people constantly. I really feel like

Lakeshore man charged with drive-by shooting

Bullets missed apparent victim

SEA COAST ECHO

Bay St. Louis Police Chief Gary Pontheux on Thursday announced the arrest of 28-year-old Christopher D. Byrd of Lakeshore, who was charged with one count of drive-by shooting.

On Aug. 19, the Bay St. Louis Police Department responded to reports of a drive-by shooting near Highway 603 and Road 560, a Bay PD release states.

"Witnesses reported Byrd fired a handgun from a moving vehicle at a known victim," Pontheux said in the release. "Byrd fled the scene and returned to his residence in the Lakeshore community. Byrd was arrested without incident by detectives of the Bay St. Louis Police Department."

Byrd is being held at the Hancock County Jail under a $100,000 bond set by Municipal Court Judge Maggio, the release states.

According to the release, this is an ongoing investigation.

Anyone with information about the incident is asked to contact the Bay St. Louis Police Department at 228-467-9222. People can also report tips via Crimestoppers at 1-877-787-5898 or www.mscoastcrimestoppers.com.

Bay St. Louis City Council votes to move on $8 million bond issue

BY GEOFF BELCHER
NEWS EDITOR

The Bay St. Louis City Council this week approved a resolution declaring the city's intent to either seek General Obligation bonds up to $8 million or procure up to an $8 million loan from the Mississippi Development Bank.

"This is just the first step in the process," Mayor Mike Favre told councilmen Tuesday.

He said the resolution did not mean the city was actually procuring the money or obligating the city to anything, it was just an announcement that city leaders want to begin the process.

"We're looking on trying to see what we can afford," Favre said. "We'd like to move forward on this, if we could."

The resolution states the funds may be used for a variety of purposes, including constructing municipal buildings and facilities such as auditoriums or community centers; buying buildings or land; repairing existing city properties; upgrading and repairing existing streets, drainage and sewerage systems, sidewalks or parking facilities; constructing or repairing or improving bridges and culverts; constructing, repairing or improving wharves, docks, harbors and appurtenant facilities; altering or changing the channels of streams and water courses; and for "related purposes."

"The description is very vague," city attorney Heather Smith told councilmen. "The reason for that is, you don't want to narrow yourself and then have to come back" and get reauthorized for funds in the middle of a project.

"Eight million dollars is the max amount," Jason Thomas, a consultant with the Southern Mississippi Planning & Development District, told councilmen. "You may not need that

Hancock County RSVP seeking senior citizen volunteers for student mentor program

BY CASSANDRA FAVRE
STAFF WRITER

The Hancock County Retired Senior Volunteer Program is currently seeking volunteers for its newest community outreach initiative, the RSVP Senior Mentor Volunteer Program.

RSVP Assistant Project Director Dr. Barbara Coatney, who has more than 30 years experience in education and administration, wrote and applied for the federal grant that made the venture possible for RSVP.

Coatney said she came up with the idea after hearing Bay-Waveland School District Superintendent Dr. Sandra Reed discussing why the third-grade reading test scores were so low.

"I used that as a platform," she said. "I knew we could do better."

The program's primary focus is children in grades head start-through-third-grade, Coatney said.

"We want to catch the children early," she added.

The plan is for seniors to work with students in either small groups or individually, she said.

RSVP is partnering with the following schools: Bay-Waveland Head Start, North Bay Elementary, Waveland Elementary, and South Hancock Elementary.

RSVP is currently seeking 40 qualified volunteers, age 55 and older, for the program. Volunteers will receive training and must pass a background check, which is paid for with grant funding, Coatney said. Retired educators are also welcome, she said.

Volunteers will receive about four to six hours of instructional education/training prior to placement, Coatney said, and will be provided appropriate lesson plan content from teachers.

Coatney said that students with a good background in pre-K, kindergarten and first-grade excel.

Coatney added that the program is a good way for seniors to give back to the community.

"It keeps seniors' minds active and they also develop a bond with the children," she said. "So when they improve, they get that gratification."

In addition to the new mentoring program, RSVP, which operates as a non-profit program, also provides senior volunteers to other organizations such as the Hancock County Food Pantry, Hope Haven Children's Advocacy Center, Bay St. Louis City Hall, Hancock County Chamber of Commerce, Hancock County Library System, Hancock

Resource Center, Bay St. Louis Little Theatre, The King's Kitchen, St. Clare, Waveland Police Department, and Magdalene House, RSVP Project Director Linda Pitts said.

Anyone who would like to join the mentoring program is asked to contact RSVP staff at 228-467-9073 or via email at hancockcountysvp@hotmail.com.

Don’t Thread on Me

If you haven’t seen an eyebrow threading salon yet, you will soon. The brow-shaping trend is sweeping the nation, and devotees of the practice swear by the technique for its precision, convenience, and affordability compared to waxing and tweezing.

The threading craze is also inadvertently accomplishing something besides perfecting American arches: it’s exposing the shameless rent-seeking that litters the occupational licensing landscape across the country.

Dipa Bhattarai is a graduate student in Mississippi. She was born in Nepal, and has been threading most of her life. Eyebrow threading is a very safe method of hair removal that does not reuse the same tools on different customers and does not involve the use of sharp implements, harsh chemicals, or heat. Instead, this simple technique allows threading artists to use nothing but twisted cotton thread, acting like a mini-lasso, to remove stray hair.

Dipa saw an opportunity to pursue her version of the American Dream when word of her threading expertise led to classmates clamoring for her assistance. She opened a threading store in a local mall. Her clientele grew quickly, and within months, she hired an employee and opened a second location.

Because threading is so safe, no government license or training is required to offer threading services, and Dipa’s business is thriving.

Just kidding. If you believed that, you haven’t been paying attention to the licensing industrial complex as it has metastasized across all 50 states. Fueling this growth are practitioners of various occupations counterintuitively begging the government to impose regulations on them. In exchange, they gain a sense of legitimacy and monopoly use of a title. These occupations typically have little or no connection to public health or safety – such as flower arrangers, horse massagers, and interior decorators.

Industry insiders run the unnecessary licensing boards spawned by these regulations, often with no legislative oversight. They have an insatiable appetite for increasing their own job security and earnings by blocking new competitors from the business. Licensing boards are the new unions, and it’s no coincidence that the increase in the former has coincided with the decline of the latter. In the 1950s, only one out of twenty people required a government permission slip to do their job. Today, that number has skyrocketed to nearly one in three.

Like regulatory black holes, no activity escapes these boards’ jurisdiction. Plucking hairs without a license? Heaven forbid. That is the practice of esthetics, and it can cost you. No encroachment on a licensing board’s turf is too petty to go unpunished. All in the name of protecting the public, of course.

These protectionist-licensing schemes hurt workers of modest means and young people trying to get their start in life. Which brings us back to Dipa. Business was great, until an inspector for the Mississippi State Board of

Wicker Promotes America’s Interests in the Arctic

The Polar Regions are Vital to our Economy and Security

The United States was once considered a continental power whose limits were the Gulf of Mexico and Rio Grande to the south and two oceans to the east and west. But America is also an Arctic power. Since 1867, when our country purchased Alaska for two cents an acre from Russia, we have had a long shoreline on the Arctic Ocean.

What happens in this region affects our entire nation’s economy and security. Billions of dollars in commercial shipping goes through the Northern Sea Route and the Northwest Passage. Those vessels transport oil and gas resources discovered beneath the ice, bring seafood from local fisheries around the world, and connect the hundreds of thousands of Americans who call Alaska home.

SECURING THE ARCTIC

Securing America’s interests in the Arctic requires a fleet of ships capable of patrolling and exploring the region. The Senate Commerce Committee, which I chair, oversees the U.S. Coast Guard, the tip of the spear projecting American power around the globe, including in the Arctic. I recently traveled to Alaska to speak with the men and women at Air Station Kodiak and aboard the Coast Guard Cutters Healy and Douglas Munro about their missions and priorities.

The Healy is one of only two fully operational polar icebreakers in the Coast Guard’s fleet. It can break up to five feet of ice in temperatures as low as negative 50 degrees Fahrenheit, keeping key trade routes open. It also performs search and rescue operations, escorts other ships, and enforces our laws and treaties. At any time, there may be as many as 50 scientists on the Healy, turning it into a floating laboratory.

The Arctic’s commercial potential is increasing at a time of rising threats in the region from our geopolitical rivals, including Russia and China. Russia in particular has a great deal of experience navigating frozen waters near the North Pole, but America is building and improving more ships like the Healy to close the gap.

The Commerce Committee recently

Mississippi Asphalt Pavement Association

Dear Editor:

I recently read an editorial which made some pretty broad sweeping statements and included some name-calling against the highway construction industry, specifically the asphalt pavement industry. These slanted statements were, naturally, favorable to Tate Reeves; and they provided a distorted picture of both Bill Waller, Jr. and his pragmatic solutions he’ll implement if he is elected Governor. And while we normally would never gratify such misinformation with a response - we thought it would be worthy to do so in this instance, particularly with the importance of the current GOP primary runoff and its future implications on Mississippi’s road & bridge infrastructure.

The opinion piece says, “Special interests like the asphalt contractors want Reeves to raise the gas tax so MDOT Commissioners have a bigger slush fund”.

LETTER  to the EDITOR

OUR LETTERS POLICY

The Sea Coast Echo welcomes comments from its readers. Letters must be signed and include address or telephone number. Letters should be brief, preferably typewritten and double-spaced. Only one letter per writer per month. The editor reserves the right to edit or reject letters. Letters of thanks, expressions of appreciation and political endorsements are inappropriate.

To the assertion that the asphalt contractors are “special interest” - This negative connotation is particularly insulting. Asphalt contractors and their suppliers & vendors, which span from each corner of the state and everywhere in between, provide a necessary service to the state of Mississippi. In so doing, these companies provide well-paying & meaningful career paths to tens of thousands of Mississippians. As a result, these employees stimulate their local economies by buying groceries, gas and other goods. These companies and their employees pay their fair share of local, state, and federal taxes. At the local level asphalt contractors provide scholarships, sponsor community activities, and patronize charitable causes to name a few. You won’t hear that in the attack ads. In the spirit of political election cycles, asphalt contractors and their suppliers & vendors “sign the front side of a check – not just the back side”. A quick google search will show the definition of special interest is a group of people or an organization seeking or receiving special advantages, typically through lobbying. We are not trying to receive special advantages. We want to keep our businesses operating. We are trying to keep our employees employed so they can feed their families. We don’t think that’s too much to ask. And any claim to the contrary is offensive to an industry that provides so much to the state of Mississippi, yet receives such little respect from some who are seeking public office.

this board has worked really hard to get where we're at."

Alderman Shane LaFontaine said that "one of the hardest things I find to do is to give myself a raise."

Smith told the board that he works with each aldermen on a daily basis and that they do "work hard for the betterment of the city."

"For me, I've never in my entire life asked for a raise, it's always come to me," Smith said. "I feel like Bobby does, that we have all worked and we have improved the city through actions of what we've done, along with our employees to get where we're at."

Alderman Charlie Piazza said that he also visits people and gets phone calls from residents.

"I've always said like Shane that I don't want to give myself a raise, but look at all we've done," Piazza said.

LaFontaine said that he thought a $3,000 raise was "pretty steep."

The board discussed lowering the raise. However, Burke said that he was "fine" with everyone's salary remaining the same.

LaFontaine said that he would hope the decision about a raise would be unanimous. He said that he would also not be for a raise if Burke wasn't.

The board agreed to eliminate the $3,000 raise for the aldermen.

The proposed raise for the mayor is still included in the budget, Lagasse said.

The budget also includes projects such as the Waveland Avenue Sidewalk Project; rehab on Garfield Ladner Pier; and the construction of the community center at MLK Park, Lagasse said.

Lagasse said the city is also looking at resurfacing Nicholson Avenue and adding bike lanes to both sides.

"We are also looking at providing other sidewalks in the area and constructing a park in the annexed area on Avenue B," he said. The proposed budget also includes the purchase of three patrol cars in the police department and a new citywide computer system.

The board scheduled a public hearing for the budget on Sept. 3 at 6 p.m. in the boardroom at City Hall, located at 301 Coleman Ave.

Cosmetology showed up, issued her a citation, and forced her to close down her business. Dipa had not realized a license was needed simply for eyebrow threading; this was America after all – the land of opportunity.

When Dipa looked into the licensing requirements, she learned she would be required to take 600 hours of training, which would cost thousands of dollars, and the curriculum would not even teach eyebrow threading. Instead, the classes would cover waxing, tweezing, makeup, facial massage, and a host of other irrelevant topics. Thinking there must have been a mistake, she contacted the Board. There was no mistake.

Dipa took many of the required classes, but simply could not afford to take enough time and money away from her graduate studies to complete all of the Board’s irrelevant training. She pled with the Board to let her thread, explaining that she did not want to perform any of the services taught in esthetician school. The Board said its hands were tied: state law requires threaders to be licensed – an addition to the law that the Board lobbied for in 2013.

Of all licensing boards, the Mississippi State Board of Cosmetology should know better. In 2004, the Board was sued for an almost identical situation: requiring hair braiders to take 300 hours of classes that taught nothing about braiding. After the lawsuit exposed the absurdity of the regulatory regime, then-Governor Haley Barbour signed legislation that deregulated hair braiding. In the 14 years since that law took effect, over 1,500 braiders have registered new businesses in Mississippi, and nobody has been injured by these unlicensed entrepreneurs.

Dipa is now represented by the Mississippi Justice Institute, and we are proud to join her this month in filing a lawsuit to challenge the constitutionality of Mississippi’s eyebrow threading laws. But not every budding entrepreneur in America finds their way to a law firm willing to represent them for free. It’s time for the states to adopt substantial and comprehensive occupational licensing reforms. Smothering small businesses in pointless fees and regulation works against our economy and keeps the American Dream out of reach for new generations of entrepreneurs.

Aaron Rice is the Director of the Mississippi Justice Institute, a non-profit constitutional litigation center and the legal arm of the Mississippi Center for Public Policy.

approved the Coast Guard Authorization Act of 2019. Mississippi’s expert shipbuilders are already on course to build a new Polar Security Cutter (icebreaker), and this bill would authorize the manufacture of additional vessels to meet the Coast Guard’s growing needs in the Polar Regions.

The Commerce Committee is working to promote fisheries development, enforce our fisheries laws, and help coastal communities from Alaska to the Magnolia State protect jobs by responding quickly after fisheries disasters. The Coast Guardsmen aboard the Douglas Munro and I discussed how the service safeguards the area’s valuable fish stock. These men and women prevent illegal fishing off Alaska’s coasts, just as their counterparts in the Gulf protect commercial fishermen in Mississippi. These two states may be far apart, but they have common interests and issues, and the Coast Guard is protecting them every day.

PAST FOLLIES, TODAY’S SUCCESSES

When President Andrew Johnson put the treaty for the Alaska Purchase before the U.S. Senate, it was passed by just one vote and was often called “Seward’s Folly,” after then-Secretary of State William H. Seward. Many doubted that this frozen tundra would ever be valuable. Gold was discovered just a few decades later and oil soon after that. Our 49th state continues to reap rewards for the American public.

The folly today would be to fail to look after America’s interests in this increasingly vital region. My visit to Alaska was a reminder of this mission, and I will continue my work in the Commerce Committee to ensure our success.

and its elected Commissioners do the best job they can with a funding model put in place 32 years ago. And despite the repeated attacks they’re nationally recognized for the good job they do with what they’re provided. The countless legislative studies, audits, and attacks have never found any major inefficiencies or the “slush fund” that’s alleged.

The opinion piece further states that Reeves is, “...standing up to the highway contractors...” as if we are supporting something that’s not a basic function of government. Mississippi’s roads are in awful shape. Thousands of miles need to be reconstructed or repaved. There are hundreds of bridges that are closed and need to be fixed. We have expansion needs where we need to add lanes in our metropolitan areas. There are overwhelming highway safety issues. These infrastructure problems don’t fix themselves. And they certainly haven’t been adequately tended to in the last 8 years.

There is one common denominator across the United States where States are improving their infrastructure – that is a Governor who leads the effort. In the runoff election on August 27th, we believe there is only one candidate for Governor who possesses the leadership and fortitude to do what needs to be done to fix Mississippi’s road and bridge problems. That candidate is Bill Waller, Jr.

Bay man’s father to be inducted into Biloxi Sports Hall of Fame

BY GEOFF BELCHER
NEWS EDITOR

A Bay St. Louis man's late father will be inducted into the Biloxi Sports Hall of Fame this Sunday, Aug. 25.

David Ward, Sr., was "one of the Coast’s premier amateur boxers starting in the 1950s," according to the Sports Hall of Fame, and "went on to coach the Biloxi Boxing Club for eight years. His fighters won 28 overall team titles and 20 Mississippi Golden Gloves and AAU Championships. He also was a longtime volunteer coach of Little League and Pony League baseball."

"My dad was like every kid in the neighborhood's dad," Rod Ward said recently. He was the proverbial baseball dad. He had the pick-up truck loaded with kids, dropping them off at home every day after practice. He was a champion."

Before he was a champ to the neighborhood kids, David, Sr., was a champ in the ring.

"He was a fighter," Rod said. "He went to the University of Southern Mississippi on a boxing scholarship."

The elder ward had a stellar boxing career, which the family once had documented with dozens of photographs before Hurricane Katrina took them in 2005.

More than 30 nominations were considered for the Biloxi Sports Hall of Fame this year. The 2019 induction ceremony will be held Aug. 25 at the Biloxi Civic Center.

"My family has a deep, deep history in Biloxi," Rod Ward said. "My grandparents owned Aughinbaugh Seafood, which later became the Biloxi Canning Co., and they were inducted into the Mississippi Maritime & Seafood Industry Museum in August 2014. I was just really, really proud of that. I have a real deep-rooted Biloxi family and I think this is the end of the job of getting them all recognized."

KITTY WEST

Abbie Jewel "Kitty" West passed away Aug. 18 after a long struggle with cancer. She was 89.

Born in Union Town, Ala., to Anna Mae (nee Presley) and James Kirk Slawson, Abbie Jewel was the second of six children. When she was a child, the family moved to Shuqualak, Miss., a small farming community where her grandfather was a preacher, but, as she recalled, the family traveled throughout the area to pick cotton.

As a teenager of uncommon independence, and eager to find her place in a larger, post-WWII world, she traveled by bus to New Orleans. Soon she began a career in show business, becoming the burlesque legend Evangeline the Oyster Girl. A headliner throughout her career, she took pride late in her life in pointing out that she was once featured in Life Magazine.

She married a prominent jockey, Jerry West, and they later operated a few small businesses in New Orleans. After her husband's death in 2001, she retired to Bay St. Louis.

She is survived by her brother Johnny Slawson; her sons, Robert and Gary West, and his wife, Terri; her grandsons, Nathan and Spencer West; many wonderful nieces, nephews, grandnieces and grand-nephews; and several dear friends.

Plans are pending for a memorial gathering on Sept. 14.

much."

In other words, Ward 6 Councilman Josh DeSalvo said, the idea is to "come in high from the get-go and try to use a little less."

"The engagement letter from Butler Snow (attorneys) says $9 million," Ward 1 Councilman Doug Seal pointed out.

"That shows you how much it's been narrowed down already," Smith said.

"If we don't get but $3 million, that's what everything will be based on," Favre said.

"Before we vote for this, I'd like to look at it for a couple of meetings, get some public input on it," Councilman-at-Large Gary Knoblock said. "I would like to have the public come in on it."

Knoblock said he wasn't necessarily against procuring the money, but he had a lot of questions, including "what kind of millage increase are we looking at if we get $8 million?"

"I don't think we're going to get $8 million," Favre said.

"This just states your intent to move forward," Thomas said. "The public will have an opportunity to comment."

"I really think the public needs to chime in on this," Ward 3 Councilman Jeffrey Reed said. "I'm not against the bond, necessarily, because I know we need some improvements in the city, but I talked to a couple of citizens this morning, and they wanted to talk about this before we agree to anything."

"They want to know what other plans, what specific plans, that we plan to do with the $8 million. All I can tell them is, we want to do drainage, we want to do roads. Again, I would love to have public comment, public input, before I cast my vote to approve the bond. I'd like the public to chime in, because they're the ones who are going to be paying the bills."

"Sometimes you have to borrow money, go in debt, to do things and get them done quickly," DeSalvo said.

"I think the public will have ample opportunity" to comment before the city actually borrows any money, Ward 4 Councilman Larry Smith said. "It's part of a process. The public will be able to talk with us and voice their opinion."

"I agree with Josh that the bond is needed, and a lot of things need to be done in Ward 6," Knoblock said, "but with this coming onto the agenda at such a late hour ... Why does it have to be today? Why can't we just wait until the next meeting? This is the first time that I've seen this and I have a lot of questions."

DeSalvo said that council had been discussing the matter for months.

"We didn't just bring this up, there's been a lot of discussion about a bond over the last few months," he said. "It didn't just come up today."

"I would respectfully request that this be moved to the next meeting to vote," Knoblock said. "I think we're doing the citizens of Bay St. Louis an injustice by doing this."

"I think we should workshop this out," Reed said. "I think we should have a workshop and let's tell (the public) what we're going to do with this $8 million."

Thomas said any intent to procure bonds or loans would have to be advertised in the Sea Coast Echo, and there would be a public comment period.

He said delaying approval of the resolution of intent could delay actually getting the bond or loan until next year.

DeSalvo called for a vote in the matter, seconded by Ward 5 Councilman Buddy Zimmerman.

Knoblock and Reed voted against the resolution;

DeSalvo, Zimmerman, Seal and Larry Smith voted to approve it.

Favre reiterated Friday that the actual final number probably won't be $8 million.

"We're going to have numerous workshops to narrow down what we need," Favre said. "Right now, it's a broad -- very, very broad -- bond, but it will be narrowed down. It's probably going to be less than $8 million."

Favre said public workshops will be scheduled before the city commits to anything in the matter.

Hawks outlast Blue Devils 28-17

BY DWAYNE BREMER
CONTRIBUTING WRITER

The Hancock Hawks ripped off 21 unanswered points in the final eight minutes Friday to take a 28-17 victory over a scrappy Pearl River Central Blue Devils squad at Brett Favre Field.

"I'm really proud of the way we battled tonight," Hawks Head Coach Neil Lollar said. "We had some mishaps, but the guys stayed the course. We battled adversity well. A lot of our younger guys grew up tonight.

The win was the third consecutive year the Hawks opened with a victory over PRC, but it was not easy.

The Blue Devils jumped out to a 7-0 lead midway throughout the first quarter when Deitrich Spikes busted loose on an 81-yard touchdown run late in the first quarter.

Hancock's offense sputtered on it's first four drives, missing two field goals and throwing an interception during the stretch.

Late in the second quarter, the Hawks finally got on the board when Sebastian Fausett scored on a one-yard run with 13 seconds to play in the half. Austin Hyde nailed the point-after to tie the game 7-7, headed into the half.

The Hawks looked to get a break to start the third quarter when Devin Laneaux sniffed out a fake punt, giving Hancock the ball at the 40.

The Hawks were unable to capitalize and were forced to punt.

Late in the third quarter, the Blue Devils retook the lead when Cody Lamber connected on a 33-yard field goal.

PRC then surprised the Hawks with an on-sides kick, which Lamber recovered at the 46.

"We knew they were going to throw the kitchen sink at us," Lollar said. "They played really hard and made some plays."

Six plays after the on-sides kick, the Blue Devils took a two-score lead when Ty Herring scored on a 12-yard run. Lambert's point-after extended the lead to 17-7 with just over ten minutes to play.

Hancock responded with a quick five-play drive to reach the end zone.

Fausett started things out with a 26-yard run. Two plays later, quarterback Sema'J Robertson took off on a 40-yard scramble to the end zone.

"That play was huge for us," Lollar said. "It was a busted play, but Sema'J made it happen. It really changed the momentum."

Hyde's point-after cut the Blue Devils lead to 17-14 with 7:43 to play.

On the ensuing kickoff, Hancock's Cameron Ganier recovered a fumble at the 36, giving the Hawks great field position.

Three plays later, Robertson connected with Jordan Zulli on a beautiful 33-yard touchdown pass

Hyde added the point-after to give the Hawks their first lead of the night, 21-17.

The Hawks' defense got the ball right back on the next drive when Laneaux recovered a fumble at the 38.

Hancock converted the mistake and drove seven plays to score. Jordan Fouchee did the honors on a 12-yard run with just under two minutes to play.

Hyde's point-after made the score 28-17.

The Blue Devils were unable to score and the clock expired to give Hancock the win.

Fausett paced the Hawks with 144 yards on 19 carries.

Robertson rushed for 94 yards and completed seven passes for 81 yards.

Spikes led the Blue Devils with 126 yards on 15 carries.

The Hawks will travel to Meridian next Friday night.

Tigers bottle Hurricanes 42-30

BY JOSEPH W. GEX, II

The Bay High Tigers opened the Eric Collins era with a resounding 42-30 victory over the West Harrison Hurricanes.

The Tigers relied on a methodical rushing attack combined with a suffocating defense to quell the Hurricanes on the road. The Tigers jumped out to a 14-6 in the first quarter and pushed the lead to 28-16 at halftime.

Bay High held the Hurricanes scoreless in the third quarter before giving up two touchdowns late in the fourth quarter to make the final score.

Bay High head coach Eric Collins stated, "I am so very proud of these players. they made a commitment to become a better football team and they are on their way to becoming one. Their effort through the summer with workouts and conditioning has brought us to this point. We have eight players going both ways for us.

They were warriors tonight."

Noah Cutter had a huge night for the Tigers. He scored four touchdowns in the game. He had 102 yards rushing on 12 carries and three scores. his fourth touchdown came on defense when he had a 45-yard scoop-and-score on a fumble return.

Sam Sheppard had 93 yards on nine carries and a touchdown while Josh Peters added a rushing touchdown. Peters also was 5-for-7 passing for 102 yards and an interception. Zach West added 34 yards rushing on five carries. Dawson Kotsakos was 6-for-6 on PATs.

Collins ended, "We have to get some of these younger guys to develop so we can build our depth. These younger players will help to rest some of our starters at various points in the game. That is a must for us at this level. We don't know much about Purvis right now but we will develop a game plan and get to work this week and prepare for them. I can't say it enough but I am super proud for these players, this school and this community."

The Tigers host Purvis at Joe D. McCullough

Stadium/Tank Williams Field next Friday evening. Last night, the Tornadoes fell to the West Marion Trojans 34-0. Game time is set for 7 p.m.

St. Stanislaus Rock-a-Chaws ravage Bruins 46-0

BY JOSEPH W. GEX, II
STAFF WRITER

The St. Stanislaus Rock-a-chaws christened the 2019 gridiron season with a dominating 46-0 victory over the Saint Joseph Bruins from Madison Friday night 'between the walls' at the Brother Philip Memorial Athletic Complex. The Rocks used a punishing running game, slashing passing game, and a smothering defensive game to ravage the Bruins in the first ever contest between the two schools.

SSC held the Bruins to 28 rushing yards on 24 carries and limited them to only 45 passing yards on 7-for-21 passing with four interceptions to set up their bullish offense. On the offensive side of the ball, the Rocks carried the ball 29 times for 205 yards and four scores and Max Favre tossed two touchdowns passes while throwing for 151 yards on 9-for-16 passing with no interceptions.

SSC head coach Nate Encrapera commented, "I thought we did a pretty good job all around. There were a few miscues but for the most part we executed tonight. Perhaps the biggest thing for us was the fact that everyone got to play. We were able to see some young guys get varsity snaps and get in some action. That will be very big for us especially down the road because we need to develop the younger players so that we can spell our guys at certain points of the game. We need to find a way to get guys into the game and take snaps for us."

The Bruins opened the game with a 21-yard carry by Kevin May and that would be the biggest play of the night for the Bruins. The Rocks took over after a punt that was set up by a 11-yard sack by Lee Negrotto and Thomas Williams.

SSC took over on the Bruins 22 yard line after Dallas Payne returned a Bruin punt 41 yards. Favre found Negrotto for a 14-yard pickup to the Bruin six yard line. After two negative plays, Favre went back to the air and connected with Negrotto for a 10-yard scoring toss with 6:38 left in the first quarter. Gene Hoffman's PAT was wide right leaving the score 6-0.

Another three and out gave the Rocks the ball at their own 14 yard line. Brandon Bordelon had a minimal gain before Favre hit Negrotto again for a 39-yard pickup to the Bruin 45 yard line. Bordelon took the ball to the house on a 45-yard gash up the middle to push the score to 13-0 following Hoffman's PAT.

Penalties pushed the Bruins backwards on their next drive forcing another punt where the Rocks took over at the Bruins' 41 yard line.

Chris Smith bulldozed his way forward for 18 yards before Favre went back to the air for a 12-yard connection with Bradley Darby followed by a 13-yard gain with an aerial to Payne. Two plays later, Smith scored from eight yards out with 10:41 left in the first half to make the score 19-0. Hoffman missed on the PAT.

The Bruins had an extended seven-play drive before they had to punt away.

SSC took over on their own 30 yard line. Favre found Darby for a 42-yard pass-and-catch to the Bruin 28 yard line. Then, Favre found Payne for eight yards followed by a Smith nine-yard rumble. After two incomplete passes, Favre hit Negrotto in the back of the endzone for a 10-yard scoring aerial with 4:10 left in the half.

Hoffman converted on the PAT and pushed the score to 26-0.

The Bruins had their longest drive of the night just before halftime. After taking over at midfield, the Bruins methodically moved the ball into Rock territory. A 32-yard touchdown pass was called back on a chop block in the backfield and time ran out on the Bruins.

The Rocks opened the second half on offense and moved the sticks twice but a fumble was recovered by Jaden Coleman at the Bruin 33 yard line.

However, two plays after recovering the fumble, Trustin Northington stepped in front of a Bruin pass picking it off and giving the ball back to the Rock offense at the Bruin 42 yard line.

The Rocks went three and out and punted away.

Again, three plays into the drive for the Bruins, Brock Morris was picked off by Davien Lagarde who returned the ball 22 yards for a touchdown with 4:08 left in the third quarter. The PAT by Hoffman was good making the score 33-0.

Following the ensuing kickoff, Morris was picked off for the third time on the second play of the drive by Hoffman who returned it to the Bruin 11 yard line.

Kyle Stegall scored from 10 yards out on the second play of the drive. Following Hoffman's PAT, the score was 40-0.

The Rocks forced the Bruins to punt away and took over on their own 13 yard line.

Ja'Kobe Cameron took an end-around 44 yards inside Bruin territory. Stegall ripped off gains of 11 and four yards before Alex Fabra had a 10-yard gain inside the 20. Stegall took the ball home 17 yards for a touchdown with 9:20 left in the game. A bad snap forced a two-point conversion attempt that failed leaving the score 46-0.

With a running clock, time ran out with the Rocks subbing in and out the remaining members of their roster.

Bordelon had three carries for 49 yards and touchdown while Smith had nine carries for 62 yards and touchdown. Stegall finished with six carries for 45 yards and two scores. Negrotto caught four passes for 79 yards and two scores while Darby had three catches for 61 yards.

Encrapera ended, "We have Long Beach coming to our place next week. They are a team that always plays us close. They have a line up front that is physical and they always have special skill players. This is a big game for our area as the players know each other. It will be a big game for both teams and we must come ready to play."

The Rocks host the Long Beach Bearcats next Friday 'between the walls' at the Brother Philip Memorial Athletic Complex. The Bearcats fell to the Pass Christian Pirates 42-27 last night on the road. Game time is set for 7pm. See you at the game!

Pass Pirates win second annual Oyster Bowl

BY HUNTER DAWKINS
THE GAZEBO GAZETTE

Coming off a disappointing season, the Pass Christian Pirates won their second consecutive Oyster Bowl over the Long Beach Bearcats 42-27 to win the first game of the 2019 season at Francis McDonald Stadium.

Despite the routine back-and-forth between cross-town rivals, the Pirates converted three turnovers and three missed field goals for the first home game victory in a year.

"The game went both ways, but we were lucky because of the defense in the first half," said Pass

Christian Head Coach Blake Pennock, who won his first game as a head coach. "Senior Quarterback Dustin Allison stepped it up in the second half."

The game opened up with the Bearcats controlling most of the time of possession and scoring an early touchdown with 3:13 left in the quarter. Countering the drive, the Pirates took an eight play drive before Allison tossed a 15-yard pass to receiver Dylan Necaise. After Pass Christian Kicker Davon Klein converted the extra point, the score was tied 7-7 with 34 seconds left in the quarter.

Stopping a Long Beach seven-play drive, Pirate safety Aden Purchner intercepted a pass and returned it for 41 yards with Pass Christian scoring a touchdown on a 13-yard toss from Allison to Kameron White for a touchdown. The score was 14-7 after the extra point was converted with 9:37 left in the half.

The Pirates (1-0) never lost the lead after that with Allison completing nine-yard, 74-yard and 59-yard touchdown passes. Allison finished with 277 yards and four touchdowns

The next game for the Pirates is next Friday, Aug. 30 in Brooklyn against Forrest County Agricultural High School. Kick-off is scheduled at 7 p.m.

Bay St. Louis-Waveland School District teachers Jennifer Roth (left) and Stacey Ferguson will give presentations in October at a state conference for gifted children where they will share their concepts for a Wax Museum and Invention Convention Creativity Expo.

SEA COAST ECHO

Two Bay St. Louis-Waveland School District teachers will make presentations to their colleagues at the 2019 Conference of Mississippi Association for Gifted Children in October. Stacey Ferguson and Jennifer Roth will discuss their unique approaches to teaching gifted students.

Roth said the conference presentations will “teaching teachers how to teach” their creative approaches. “We want to share so other people can try it.”

Ferguson will lead a presentation detailing her concept of a Wax Museum in which third grade gifted students research biographies, timelines and maps during the year to learn about historic figures or events. “Students ‘become’ a historic person or person from an historic event to teach others,” Ferguson said.

Roth’s presentation will detail her concept of Creative Expo: Invention Convention which encourages fourth and fifth grade students to create inventions using the creative problem solving process. “Teaching children to use creative problem solving is beneficial because they are taught how to think, not what to think,” she said.

At the end of the last school year, students of Ferguson and Roth showcased what they had learned at the Wax Museum and The Invention Convention Creativity Expo. The combined event was open to families, classmates, local business leaders and others in the community.

“The most exciting part of the Wax Museum was seeing how the children synthesized real world information in a creative way for an authentic audience,” Ferguson said.

Ferguson has been teaching in Bay-Waveland schools for 23 years, the last five years in gifted classes. Roth has 20 years of teaching experience, including seven years in Bay-Waveland gifted classes.

Little Theatre Begins New Season with “The Manchurian Candidate”

SEA COAST ECHO

The Bay St. Louis Little Theatre will open its 74th season with for the popular thriller “The Manchurian Candidate” adapted for the stage by John Lahr based on the novel by Richard Condon. The Bay St. Louis Little Theatre Guild chose this play as the 2019-2020 season opener. This will mark the first time the show has been performed on the Coast. The show opens September 20th. “Eerie, shocking, daring, thrilling, and mesmerizing.” – People Magazine. “The play will have you perched on the edge of your seat from beginning to end.” – The Upcoming.

The Little Theatre will be accepting new membership enrollment for the new season until September 15th. Information about BSLTT membership is on the website www.bsllt.org.

“The Manchurian Candidate” takes place during the war in the Middle East. G.I.s are captured during a U. N. peace-keeping mission. Major Marco and his men can’t remember anything about their capture initially. But then the men begin to have the same dream. As he searches for answers, Marco discovers threads of a diabolical plot orchestrated by the utterly ruthless Mrs. Iselin involving her war hero son, her senator husband, and a secret group of enemy leaders.

The original movie version of “The Manchurian Candidate” was made in 1962 and has remained popular to this day. The popularity is due mainly to its stars Frank Sinatra, Laurence Harvey, and Angela Lansbury. The movie was a remake starring Denzel Washington in 2004.

The show is directed and produced by Cheryl Grace. Jen Coulter and Lana Price are assistant directors. The cast includes Paul Bernard, Kathe Newcomb, Jeff Cabe, River McCollum, Lana Price, Jim Codling, Terry Cullen, Irv Hansen, Alana Freimanis, Isabella Roselli, George Bennett, and Nick Roselli. The Stage Manager is Maggie Wooten. Jen Coulter did set design and construction. Emma Rabalais is manager of sound and lights. Volunteer coordinator is Rachel Anderson. Sound effects and promotion is done by Clayton Pennylegion.

Tickets for the show can be purchased online at www.bsllt.org or purchased at Lulu’s at 126 Main Street or Bijouel at 136 Main Street. Ticket fees are $20 adults, $14 Seniors 65+, veterans, military, and students with ID, and $10 for children 12 and under. Seat reservations can be made by calling 228-467-9024 or email the Little Theatre. Is There Such a Thing as too Much Garlic?

BY LINDA BIGLER
CONTRIBUTING WRITER

Garlic has an abundance of myths surrounding it. Garlic is believed to ward off vampires. It just might work because I have been eating and cooking with garlic for many years and have never encountered a vampire. In medieval times, it was believed that eating raw garlic could prevent people from contracting the plague and other deadly diseases.

While this may be true, it is more likely that not many people wanted to get too close to people who had consumed copious amounts of raw garlic. In more modern times, garlic is believed by some to help lower blood pressure. My grandmother believed that ingesting garlic would prevent one from getting worms. My grandmother was from New Orleans, so this was one of her more rational beliefs.

Regardless of what garlic does or does not do, it is a delicious addition to many dishes. The more garlic is cooked, the more mellow it becomes. Raw garlic can have a strong, biting taste; while roasted garlic is mild and a bit sweet. When sautéing garlic, be sure to do it on medium low heat, being careful not to let it burn. Garlic which has been burned has a bitter, unpleasant taste. Please peel your own fresh garlic. The pre-peeled garlic in a jar can have a taste reminiscent of sulfur.

The first recipe is easy to prepare and is a flavorful spread for crackers.

- GARLIC SPREAD
8 ounces cream cheese, softened
One half cup sour cream
6 cloves garlic, peeled and put through a garlic press
One half teaspoon cayenne pepper
Combine all ingredients in a small bowl and beat with an electric mixture until well combined. Cover and chill at least one hour. Serve with crackers or can be used to stuff celery.
Makes about 1- and one-half cups.
This next recipe is a delicious side dish served with roasted meat, chicken, or fish.

- GARLICKY BAKED FINGERLING POTATOES
2 pounds fingerling potatoes or other petite potatoes
6 cloves garlic, peeled and crushed
One fourth cup olive oil
2 tablespoons butter
2 teaspoons kosher salt
1 teaspoon crushed black pepper
One half cup chopped flat leaf parsley, garnish
Preheat the oven to 400 degrees. Wash and dry the potatoes. Add the oil and butter to casserole dish. Place in the oven for about 2 or three minutes, just until the butter melts. Place the remaining ingredients, except the parsley, into the casserole dish and toss. Be sure the potatoes are well coated with the oil. Cover and bake 20 minutes. Remove the cover, stir the potatoes and cook an additional 20 minutes or until potatoes are done. Garnish with the chopped parsley and serve immediately.
Serves 6 to 8
The next recipe is a

- tangy salad dressing that can be served over mixed greens or over almost any salad greens.
A TOUCH OF GARLIC SALAD DRESSING
1 cup olive oil
One half cup white wine vinegar
2 teaspoons Dijon mustard
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon Tabasco, optional
One half teaspoon coarsely ground black pepper
4 cloves garlic, minced
Combine all ingredients in a jar with a tight-fitting lid and shake vigorously until all ingredients are combined. Chill well. When ready to serve, shake well.
Makes about 1- and one-half cups
Garlic and chicken pair wonderfully together. This next recipe can be easily doubled.
BAKED GARLIC CHICKEN PIECES
1 whole chicken cut into serving pieces. Or eight to 10 of your favorite chicken pieces.
1 stick (4 ounces) butter
4 cloves garlic, peeled and minced

- 1 cup Panko
One half cup freshly grated Parmesan cheese
2 tablespoons minced flat leaf parsley
One half teaspoon salt
One half teaspoon freshly ground black pepper
Preheat oven to 350 degrees. In a small saucepan, melt the butter over medium low heat. Add the garlic and stir for about one minute, do not allow the garlic to brown. Remove from heat. Combine the breadcrumbs, cheese, parsley, salt, and pepper in a bowl.
Dip the chicken pieces in the garlic butter mixture, then coat well with the Panko mixture. Place the chicken, skin side up, on a greased, rimmed baking sheet. If there is any of the crumb mixture left, sprinkle it over the chicken.
Bake for about an hour and 15 minutes or until chicken is done.
Serves 4
Of course, we cannot forget to add garlic bread to the list of garlic recipes.
GARLIC BREAD
1 large loaf French bread
1- and one-half stick

- butter, softened
Three fourths cup freshly grated Parmesan cheese
4 cloves garlic, peeled and passed through a garlic press
Preheat oven to 375 degrees. Slice bread in half, lengthwise. Combine remaining ingredients and spread on both cut sides of the bread. Place the cut sides together, wrap tightly in foil, and bake for 20 minutes. Open the top of the foil and bake for an additional five minutes to crisp the top.
Serves 6 to 8
If you are concerned about garlic breath, chewing on some parsley should take care of that. Of course, if you and your significant other both indulge in a garlic feast, you will not be able to tell whose breath is offensive.

Busting a Cat's Biting Behavior

DEAR PAW'S CORNER: Our male cat "Buster" is celebrating his third birthday. While he's a good kitty most of the time, he has these moments where he decides to "attack" and take a bite out of my arm or leg. He's not a cuddler, and when being petted he only permits me to pet a few times and then snips at me to signal that's enough. When he attacks, I've tried spraying him with a squirt bottle or distracting him with toys —which works for a few minutes. He is declawed, and I wonder if this is behind his behavior, but I'm not sure what else to do. Any suggestions? —Martha L., via email

DEAR MARTHA: I feel your frustration. Nipping and biting are generally dominance behaviors, and there are a few options for curbing them. If Buster has not been neutered, consider doing so as this can reduce aggression in male cats.

Make sure you're not inadvertently rewarding Buster for his behavior. If you sometimes give him a toy right after he attacks, he remembers that attacking you got him a toy he enjoys —so he'll do it again! Instead, hiss at him or use the squirt bottle. Give him a toy when he interacts less aggressively, such as meowing or tapping you with his paw.

Observe what he does after he nips or attacks. Does he sit, waiting for something? Does he meow and try to lead you somewhere, like his food bowl? Note the times of day that he exhibits these behaviors.

Again, don't reward dominance behaviors. Immediately hiss at nipping or biting. Reward calm behavior. It will take several tries, but create that pattern and Buster eventually will get it.

Send your questions, tips or comments to ask@pawscorner.com.

Meet Ariel. She is one of the sweetest dogs that you'll ever meet. She is beautiful, too, but our photos just haven't captured her unique gold eyes and "chocolate drop" of a nose. Ariel obviously gave much of herself to nursing puppies, but she is steadily gaining weight. She simply exudes love and kindness, which extends to other dogs as well. She is able to be paired with any of our other dogs for playtime in our doggie exercise yard, and she is always welcoming and friendly. She is, however, far more interested in the company of humans. She truly loves people! Ariel would be a particularly wonderful dog for a single person or couple seeking a loyal companion. She is likely 2 to 3 years old, so she is rather calm in nature, although she very much enjoys going for walks and playing. She is great with kiddos of all ages, so she could easily join a home with children and other dogs, though she prefers calmer dogs. She should not go to a home with cats, though, as she is very reactive to felines. We are unsure yet if Ariel is house or crate trained, but she keeps her kennel pretty clean. Please visit this loveable girl at the Hancock County Animal Shelter, 7175 Texas Flat Rd, Kiln, MS, and discover what we have. Ariel has heart of gold! Call 228 466 4516 for more information, and visit our Facebook page, Hancock County Animal Shelter, MS, to see more pictures of Ariel, and of our many other wonderful, adoptable animals looking for their forever homes.

MY LIFE IS WHAT IT IS

BY GARY ANDREWS
GARY@GADEVOTIONALS.COM

I once read a tremendous story of a lady who was sitting at the throne of God waiting for her judgment from the Lord.

All of the people around her was standing up in all of their earthly splendor and creations and seemed to be adored by many around her. The angels helping the Lord piece together the lives of all of those entering His gates were showing how all of the people lived on earth and what their accomplishments were.

The lady was embarrassed because she had very little splendor on earth. She had risen up so many times to be taken down by someone or something. When this happened she would go to her knees and cry out to God to take over and lead her the way He wanted her to go.

For many of us today this is the same story. We get so caught up in the world that we forget where our true compassion and guidance comes from. We envy those around us because of earthly treasures and wonder why we haven't achieved as much as they have. What we seem to accomplish here on earth will one day become only a memory to those left behind when we go home to be with the Lord.

Many of us are going to face ridicule and each of us will endure it painfully however we have the luxury of going to the Lord in prayer and asking for help. Most of us are going to face trials of illness and false accusations. Our world seems to crumble around us when we fix our eyes on what is worldly and take our eyes off of Jesus.

The lady thinking that her life on earth had been so bad concerning material possessions, a large ego and the swagger of a prosperous person even though she wasn't, remembered the times when others looked down on her and she would go to her knees in prayer and ask the Lord for help and guidance. She remembered how she would always offer up to the Father those who would unfairly judge her and ask that they accept her as she was. Her life, like all of us, was what it was, and ours is what it is.

Her angel asked her to rise and hold up all she had done so the Lord could see her. All of those around her that was very prosperous on earth held up all they had accomplished and how their ambitions had controlled their lives and all seemed very shiny and bright. The lady stood up and everything she held up seem to be light holes in her canopy and soon she noticed that all the holes connected together was the face of Jesus.

The Lord stood before her with warmth and love in His eyes and said, "Every time you gave over your life to Me, it became My life, My hardships, and My struggles. Each point of light in your life is when you stepped aside and let Me shine through, until there was more of Me than there was of you."

What a tremendous story but how true it is. My life is what it is because I have chosen to let Christ lead and guide me in all that I do. My hope for you is that you will allow Christ into your life and that you will follow Him in everything that you do.

Prayer: Thank you Lord for your love and guidance. I pray that I will always come to you for anything, regardless of how large or small. Guide me in all that you want me to do and let me get out of the way. Amen.

PUBLIC NOTICE OF APPLICATION FOR COASTAL WETLANDS PERMIT AND WATER QUALITY CERTIFICATION
Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission has filed an application with the Department of Marine Resources requesting permission to conduct regulated activities under the provision of the Coastal Wetlands Protection Act, Title 49, Chapter 27, Mississippi Code of 1972.

The applicant is proposing to make improvements at the Port Bienville Industrial Park within a parcel identified as "Site 4" which is located along the Port Bienville Industrial Canal, Hancock County, MS. Construction proposed includes 850 feet of bulkhead, gravel loading pad, stormwater basins and outfalls, roadways and rail line improvements, a keyhole boat slip (370 feet in length and 290 feet in width), riprap, piers, a warehouse, and a bulk fuel storage area. Approximately 1,000 linear feet of riprap will be placed around the perimeter of the keyhole slip. To facilitate construction the applicant is proposing permanent impacts to 6.91 acres of wetlands and temporary impacts to 1.06 acres of wetlands. The applicant is also proposing to excavate approximately 21,000 cubic yards of material and dredge approximately 84,883 cubic yards of material. Excavation and dredging operations will impact 0.14 acres of tidal marsh and 0.14 acres of submerged aquatic vegetation (SAV). The applicant is proposing to mitigate for impacts to emergent and forested wetlands through the purchase of credits from a commercial mitigation bank, and impacts to freshwater marsh and tidal wetlands through permit-responsible mitigation.

The applicant is requesting a variance from Chapter 8, Section 2, Part III.N.1 of the Mississippi Coastal Program (MCP) and Miss. Admin. Code Title 22, Part 23, Chapter 8, Section 113.01.6, and has justified these requests under Chapter 8, Section 2, Part I.E.2.c.v of the MCP and Miss. Admin. Code Title 22, Part 23, Chapter 8, Section 188.04 by stating the activity requires a waterfront location; there is a significant public benefit in the activity; and a public hearing has been held.

This public notice, project diagrams, and a copy of the full project application may be accessed on MDMR's website at: HYPER-LINK "http://dmr.ms.gov/index.php/coastal-resources-management/wetland-permitting" http://dmr.ms.gov/index.php/coastal-resources-management/wetland-permitting. A copy can also be mailed upon request. In compliance with Section 401 of the Federal Water Pollution Control Act (33 U.S.C. 1251, 1341), as amended by PL 95-217, the applicant will request certification from the Office of Pollution Control that the above mentioned activity will be in compliance with applicable provisions of Section 301 (33 U.S.C. 1311), Section 302 (33 U.S.C. 1312), Section 303 (33 U.S.C. 1313), Section 306 (33 U.S.C. 1316), and Section 307 (33 U.S.C. 1317) of the Act and appropriate requirements of the State Law.

Any person wishing to make comments or objections to the proposed regulated activity must submit those comments in writing to the Department of Marine Resources by mail to 1141 Bayview Avenue, Biloxi, Mississippi 39530; by fax to 228-374-5008; or by email to chris.pickering@dmr.ms.gov before 1:00 p.m. on the day September 4, 2019.

As fall and cooler weather are right around the corner, one of the most frequent questions I get from landowners related to protection of their property is, “Can I shoot a trespasser?”

The short answer is “No,” but owners can take other steps to deal with unwanted poachers or interlopers on their property. A related question is, “If a trespasser comes on my land and gets hurt, am I liable in any way for this situation?” Again, the answer is “No.”

The duty owed by a landowner to a visitor for protection against dangers or hazards on private property is determined by the legal classification of that person. He or she can be classified as a trespasser, licensee or business invitee.

Other than not intentionally harming the perpetrator, a landowner owes no duty to a trespasser on private property. Trespassers have no legal permission or basis for being on the land. Therefore, a landowner does not have to be concerned about their safety on the property.

The castle doctrine is a legal precedent that designates an individual’s home or other legally occupied space such as a vehicle as a place where he or she has protections and immunities. The doctrine permits use of force to defend oneself against an intruder. However, it doesn’t necessarily apply to your land. In other words, I can’t legally harm a trespasser I discover in my deer stand on my property or fishing in my pond without permission. So, you shouldn’t intentionally harm a trespasser that you find on your land.

If you are having trouble with a trespasser, try to photograph his or her vehicle license plate while it is on your property. Contact and send the photograph to your sheriff’s department or a conservation officer with the Mississippi Department of Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks (1-800-BE SMART) with instructions that the person is a trespasser. Complete a trespass affidavit for the arrest of trespassers on your property. This statement allows officers to take action including arrest if they catch trespassers on your land.

If you discover trespassers’ names and contact information, draft a letter informing them that they are to remain off your property and that you will pursue enforcement actions and legal fines for trespassing if they come back.

Mississippi trespass statutes have increasing levels of severity in terms of fines, penalties and potential jail time for second and third offenses, as well as instances where the landowner can demonstrate prior warnings to a trespasser. However, never escalate a confrontation directly with a trespasser that you catch on your land. Oftentimes during hunting season, these individuals will be carrying guns. It’s always the smarter move to let local law enforcement personnel deal directly with trespassers and wildlife poachers on your land.

It is not necessary to Signage will help define property boundaries and can serve to enhance penalties against trespassers. Law-abiding hunters or individuals who may inadvertently or unintentionally enter land will likely steer clear of property lines once they see posted signs.
